For Caroline Simas, creativity has been a life long passion. She was blessed to inherit her grandfather's artistic talent and knew it from a very young age. "Like many, I took the long road to being a full time artist. I have to believe though, that God's timing is always best and those previous experiences were crucial in allowing me to grow personally and professionally preparing me for today and the future."

Over the years, Caroline developed a distinctive style by staying true to her passion for painting and her niche for including inspirational messages. Her art and patterns appear on fabric, stationery and gifts, coasters, wall art, skins for technology devices, a variety of home décor products and more. She designs from her studio in Charlotte, North Carolina where her family provides love, support and much of the color and character for her creations.

For more information, check out Caroline's blog, DESIGNING FOR THE SOUL, (carolinesimas.blogspot.com) where she journals about how her design work, her faith and her family all converge.
